Product information

The Picutener and Pignet clones of Nebbiolo are trained “a pergola” and grown on terraces at up to 1800 ft in the village of Carema. Direct southern exposure allows ripening in a sub-alpine climate. Wine undergoes lengthy maceration in steel and ages for up to three years in Slavonian botti and a year in bottle. One of only three producers.

Producer information

Gian Luigi Orsolani is his family's fourth-generation to commit to Erbaluce, a variety known for its mouthwatering acidity and grass-and-melon perfume. The variety finds its best expression in the Canavese, a sandy-soiled basin of glacial origin northeast of Torino. Erbaluce's charms can be expressed with equal appeal as a rich, honeyed passito, a dry white or a brut Metodo Classico. Orsolani is also one of few who produce the rare nebbiolo-based Carema.
